Components and Connector View -

A Component and Connector view (C&C) represents the runtime instances and the protocols of connection between the instances. The connectors represent the properties such as concurrency, protocols and information flows. The diagram shown in the Primary Presentation section represents the Component and Connector view for the multi-user installation. As seen in the diagram, component instances are shown in more detail with specific connectors drawn in different notations.