

Functional Requirements

To assist with the workflow and overall ease of use, individuals will now be able to easily save data and parameters for the hive, projects and users. An outline of what can be stored in the PM database and the related functionality is listed below.