

Services _ Messages

The CRC Cell provides services that support the interactions necessary for each of the use cases described in the previous section. The services expect different message request types for each specific behavior or request.