Message Log

The Message Log allows users to view debug messages if the webcient is in debug mode. This shows the XML messages that pass between the client and server. The Message Log can be opened via the link in the upper right corner of the screen, or via any of the buttons (which will open a filtered view showing only messages relevant to the view from which it was selected). Debug mode can be enabled by an administrator, by modifying the i2b2_config_data.js file.
